The specialist trade association for the Interactive Media and Micropayments industries in the UK

The Ofcom Statutory Instrument training from aimm covers the structure of the SI and a breakdown of its framework and requirements.

The training looks at the differences between the SI and Code 15, and the additional changes providers need to be aware of to stay compliant.

If you would like to learn more about how aimm can support your business by protecting the regulatory environment in which our members operate and helping create conditions for growth, please get in touch.

We will be happy to have a chat with you.
